

NATIONAL CABINET PRIORITIES

NATIONAL CABINET

National Cabinet is Australia's premier interjurisdictional body, providing the Prime Minister, Premiers and Chief Ministers with a forum to work collaboratively on issues of national significance. National Cabinet's priorities are refreshed on a regular and ongoing basis.

A representative of Local Government will be invited to meet with National Cabinet once each year, acknowledging the role it has in productivity.

Health reform including foundations for long-term reform and actions from the Improving Care Pathway Project and Ahpra review
First Ministers with Health and Disability Ministers

Development of an NDIS Financial Sustainability Framework
First Ministers with Disability Ministers

Drive national reforms including planning to improve housing affordability and supply, and to strengthen renters rights.
Treasurers, Planning and Housing Ministers

Skills reform including a new National Skills Agreement
Skills Ministers

Regulatory, insurance affordability, energy bill relief and productivity reform
Treasurers

Productivity enhancing priorities tasked by National Cabinet:

- Market capacity constraints affecting the construction industry
- Improving interoperability of rail systems
- Delivering government services that are fit for the digital age
- Gender balance across the labour market
- Improving productivity and outcomes in the human services sector

Actions on progressing referendum on First Nations Voice
Indigenous Affairs Ministers

Accelerate delivery of nationally significant transmission projects
Energy and Climate Change Ministers

Long term vision to support parents' workforce participation and early learning and child development
Education Ministers

National standard for considering disaster and climate risk in land use planning
Planning Ministers

Firearms reform
Commonwealth Attorney General and Police Ministers